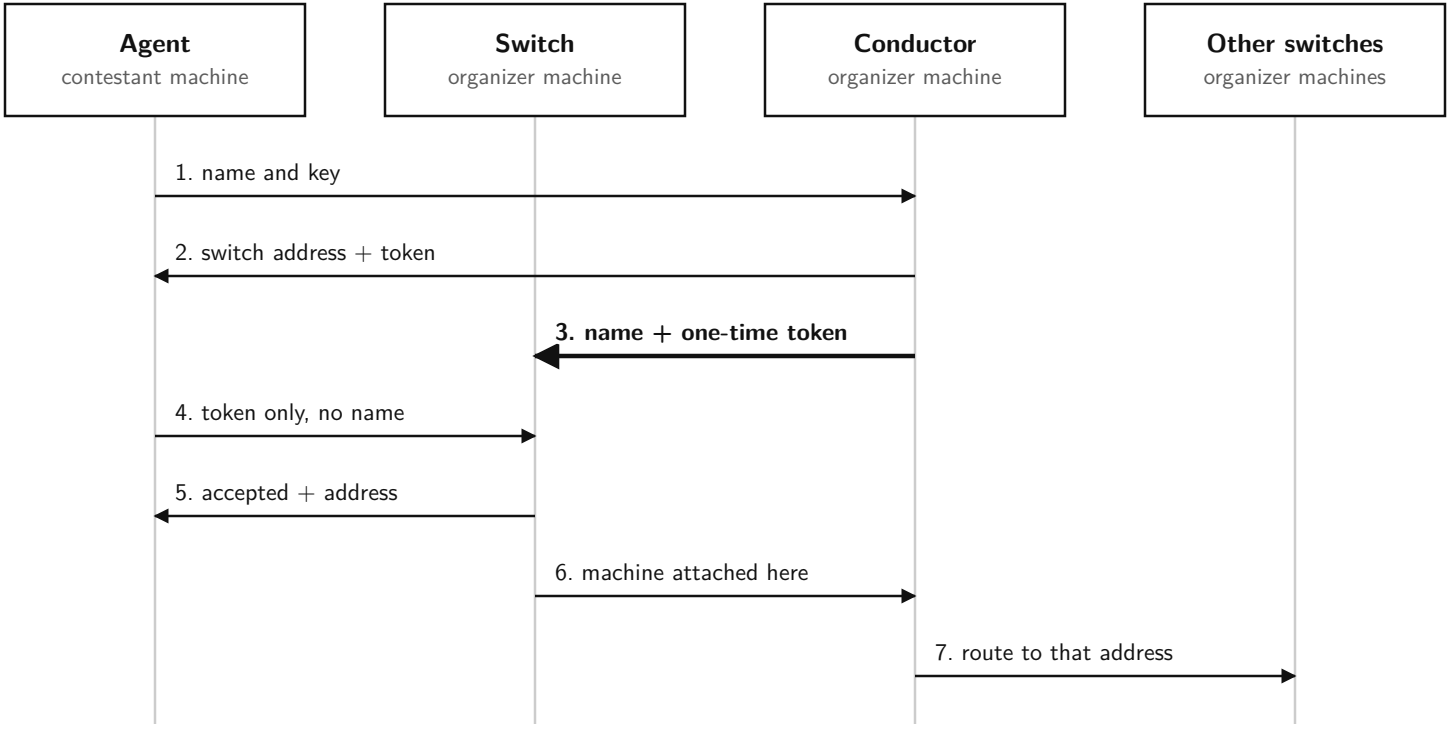
The switch learns a machine name from the conductor, never from the machine


A join in seven messages, read top to bottom. Every message travels inside TLS.